

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A venetian blind lift cord locking structure to fasten one end of the lift cord, is comprised of a plate having a hole; a cut in the plate to one end of the hole, and end surfaces formed on both sides of the cut being tightly close to 5 each other so that once the pull applied to the lift cord exceeds a specific value, the lift cord is released to prevent from accident due to trip or tangle by the lift cord.